

Press release

Date: April 25 2016

Semantix was selected as key language service provider by Telia Company

Semantix, the leading supplier of language services in the Nordic region, and Telia Company enter an agreement in Finland on providing translation and interpreting services globally.

The three-year Translation Service Agreement between Semantix and Telia Company will be effective as of 1 May 2016, with the intent of ensuring availability and efficient delivery of high-quality translation services to Telia Company. As part of the agreement, Telia Company's translation team is transferred to Semantix Finland Oy on 1 May 2016 on their current terms of employment. The arrangement will ensure the continuous development of translator competences and skills in the long term.

"This is significant step in further strengthening Semantix's in-house translation capabilities and translation services within the telecommunication sector. We are really happy to get new talented employees as part of Semantix and in return offer our technical and linguistic competence to Telia Company by establishing an important partnership with the leading Nordic Telecommunication company," says Kalle Toivonen, Managing Director of Semantix Finland Oy.

"We are happy to enter into this agreement with Semantix and are looking forward to a fruitful cooperation," says Tatu Tuominen, the Head of Communications and Public Affairs in Sonera.

For more information please contact

Kalle Toivonen,

kalle.toivonen@semantix.fi

+358 40 557 3063

Semantix is the leading supplier of language services in the Nordic region. It provides translation, language training and interpreting. The company has a network of 7,000 translators, interpreters and language consultants, and offers language services within all languages. Semantix has six offices in Sweden, two in Norway and four in Finland.